THE GREY WALL

A journey through loss, not a shortcut to healing.

WHAT

A 3D puzzle-platformer in like It Takes Two, set in a mountain valley split between grey reality and a child's vivid imagination, coming to PC.

HOW

...through an instant "Shift" mechanic between two physical and visual dimensions (the Gray World and the Vivid World) and three playable classes unlocked through the artifacts of memory.

WHY

Beyond narrative background: Grief is not just a premise, but the very engine of the gameplay.

Emotional artifacts: The artifacts are the physical, playable manifestation of the sense of loss.

Hands-on catharsis: An adventure where you literally play to accept, understand, and heal.

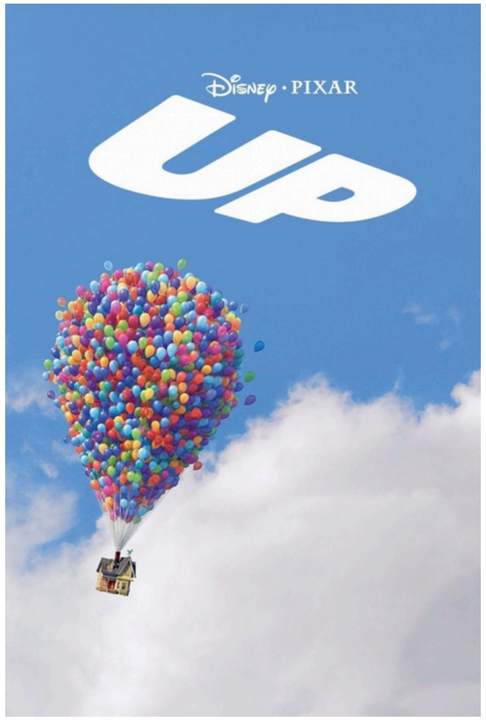
Ludic synergy: Blending the impact of a universal emotion directly with player interaction.

Playing the 5 stages: The Kübler-Ross stages translated into actual gameplay abilities.

Live it, don't watch it: The processing of grief must be played, not merely observed in a cutscene.

Interactive psychology: Transforming a complex psychological model into active puzzle-platforming.

IINSPIRATIONS



CONCEPT & STORY

The Premise: A 3D narrative platformer where a child faces the recent loss of their beloved ones and the emotional absence of their father.

The Objective: Explore these parallel dimensions to recover five artifacts linked to the stages of grief, ultimately bringing color back to the valley and healing the family.

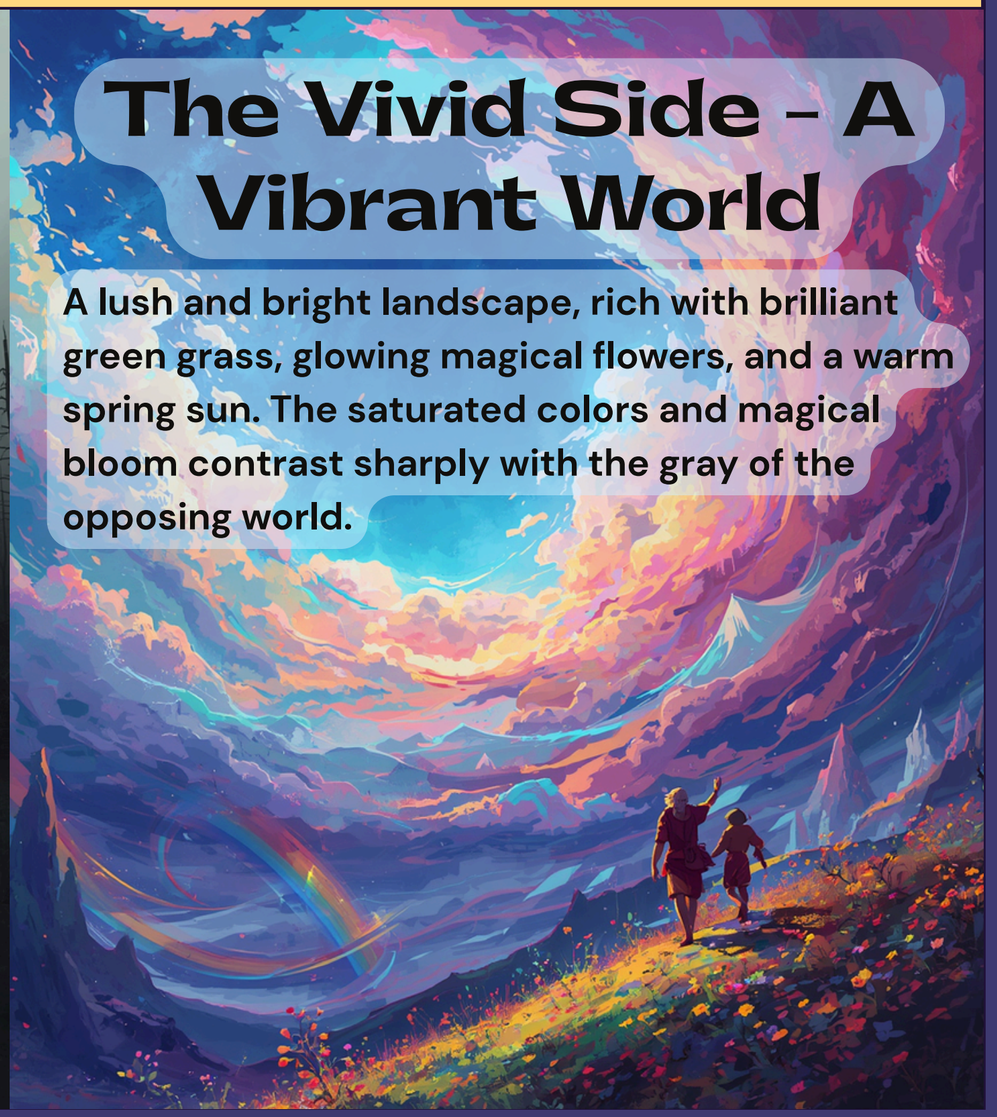
The Gray Side - A Lifeless World

A somber atmosphere shrouds a desolate land, conveying a deep sadness. The desaturated tones and cold shadows reinforce the sense of stillness and melancholy within this divided world.



The Vivid Side - A Vibrant World

A lush and bright landscape, rich with brilliant green grass, glowing magical flowers, and a warm spring sun. The saturated colors and magical bloom contrast sharply with the gray of the opposing world.

CORE MECHANICS

The "Shift" & The Imagination Bar: The player can instantly switch the environment between the oppressive Gray World and the magical Vivid World. Staying in the Vivid World and using the player's abilities consumes the Imagination Bar, which drains faster if the protagonist enters "Dead Zones" generated by the apathy of adult NPCs. The imagination bar can be recharged via environmental collectibles.

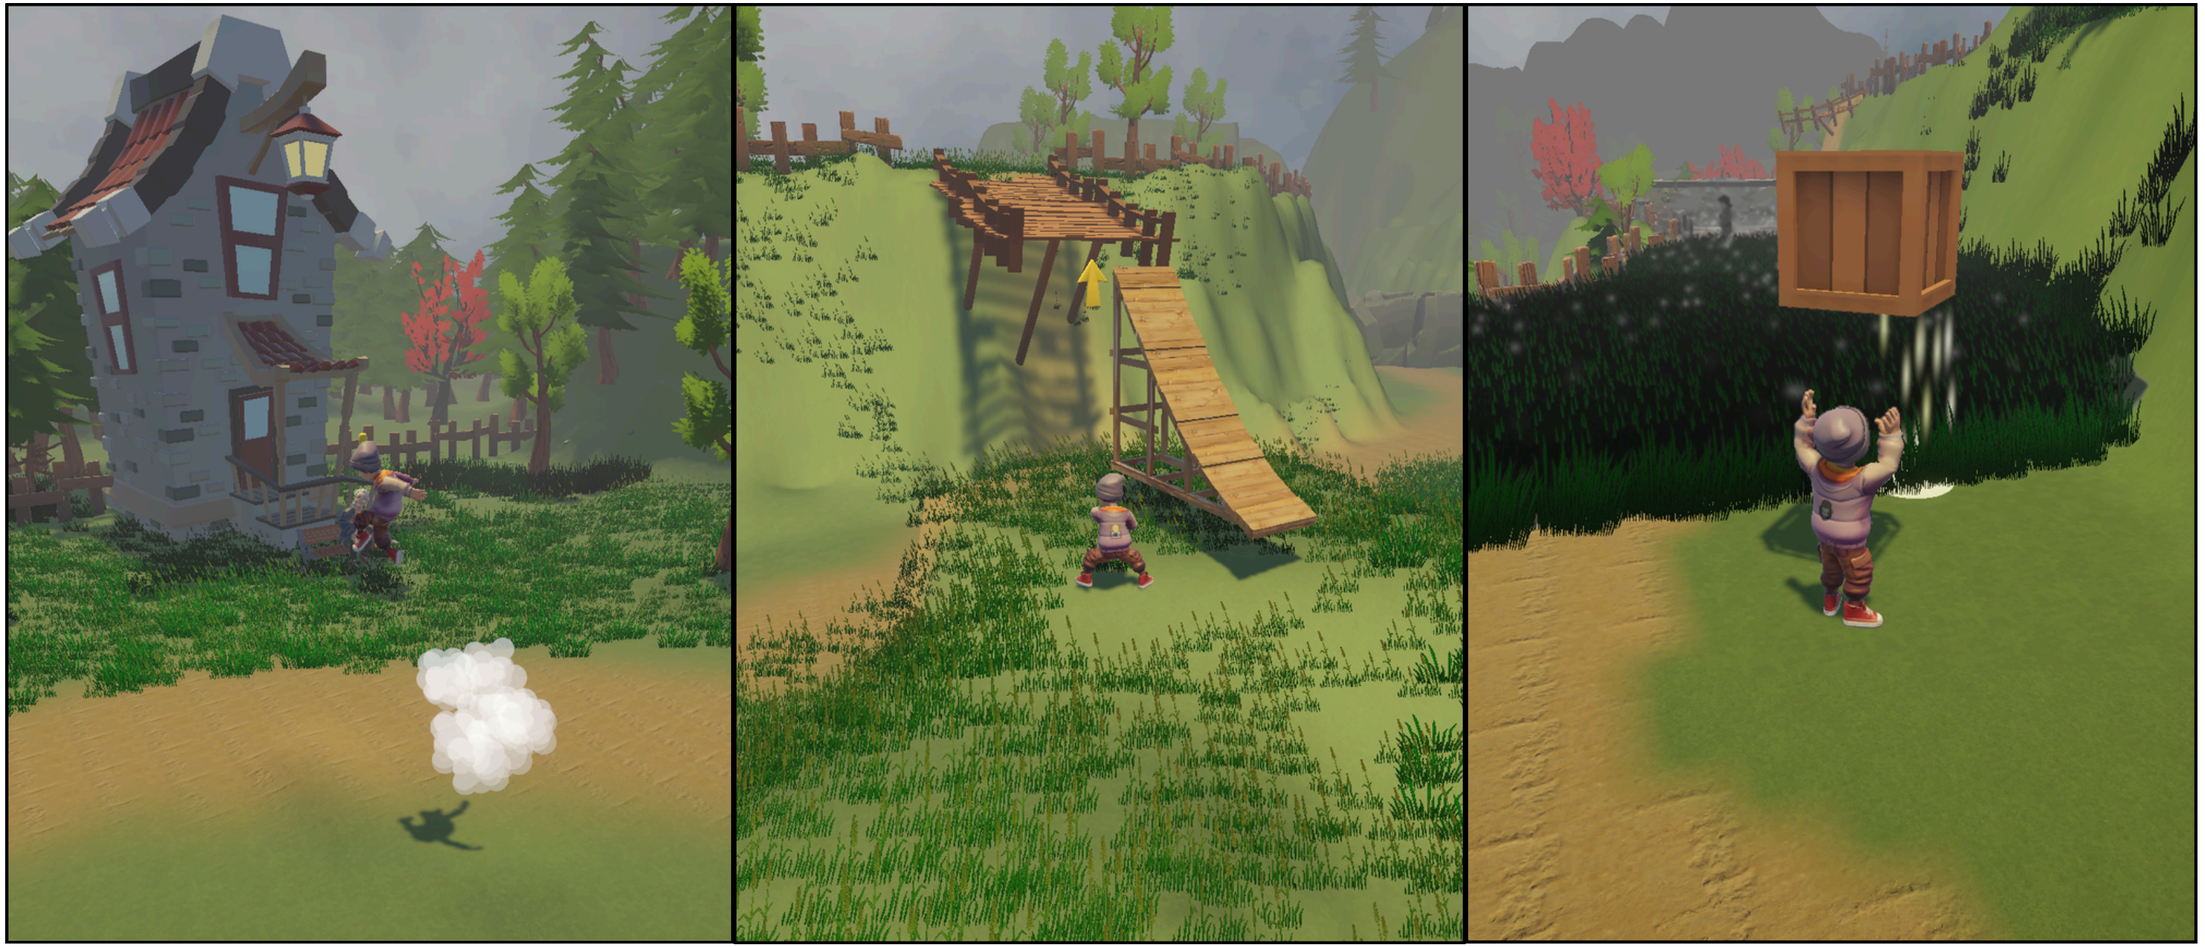
POWER-UPS

THE LIFTER: strength to move obstacles and shake objects.

THE JUMPER: has the ability to double jump and perform a mid-air dash.

THE BUILDER: the most versatile character. He create unique gadgets (rectangular blocks, spheres, or ramps) to solve the most complex puzzles, opening new paths and unlocking areas inaccessible.

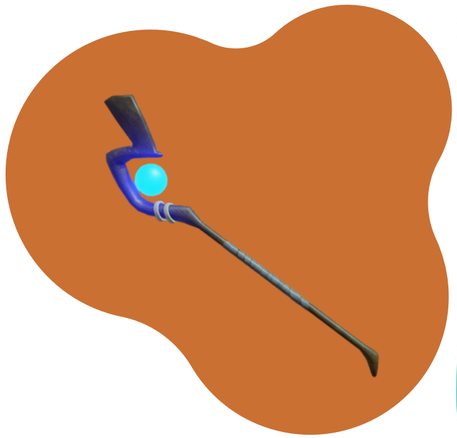
GAMEPLAY



THE CHILD

Grief can drain the color from everything, especially for a child who has quietly buried the loss. But the valley hides an ancient, vibrant secret waiting for someone practical enough to find it. Stepping into the breathtaking magic of the Vivid World, the young protagonist must navigate forgotten dimensions to bring the light back home.

FIVE ARTIFACTS



Magic Staff	Hammer of Wrath	Hourglass of the pact	Umbrella of Melancholy	Golden Key
Denial	Anger	Negotiation	Depression	Acceptance

TEAM

Mattia Riccardi:
UI Design /
Programmer

Matteo Cucchiara:
3D Artist & World
Building / Level Design

Federico Francioso:
Programmer / Producer

Luca Biga:
Producer / Sound
& Assets

Lorenzo Bosso:
Level Design /
3D World Building

BENCHMARK ANALYSIS

- Genre: Action
- Owners: 2M - 5M
- Price: 19.99 €
- Metascore: 88 %
- Pegi: 7
- Release Date: 05/2015
- Playtime: ~9 hours

BENCHMARK ANALYSIS

- Genre: Adventure
- Owners: 3M-5M
- Price: 22.99 €
- Metascore: 85 %
- Pegi: 7
- Release Date: 05/2019
- Playtime: ~16 hours

BENCHMARK ANALYSIS

- Genre: Adventure/Indie
- Owners: 1M - 2M
- Price: 36.99 €
- Metascore: 87 %
- Pegi: 3
- Release Date: 01/2016
- Playtime: ~40 hours

TARGET AUDIENCE

The Gray Wall is a single-player story-driven puzzle-platformer that refers to players of all ages with a dual emotional register.

Young players are captivated by the wonder of the Vivid World, they will easily identify with the young protagonist's natural curiosity.

The adults are engaged by the deep themes. They will reflect on the loss of their inner child.

EXIBITIONS AND MARKETING

MILAN GAMES WEEK

TORINO COMICS

Lucca Comics&Games

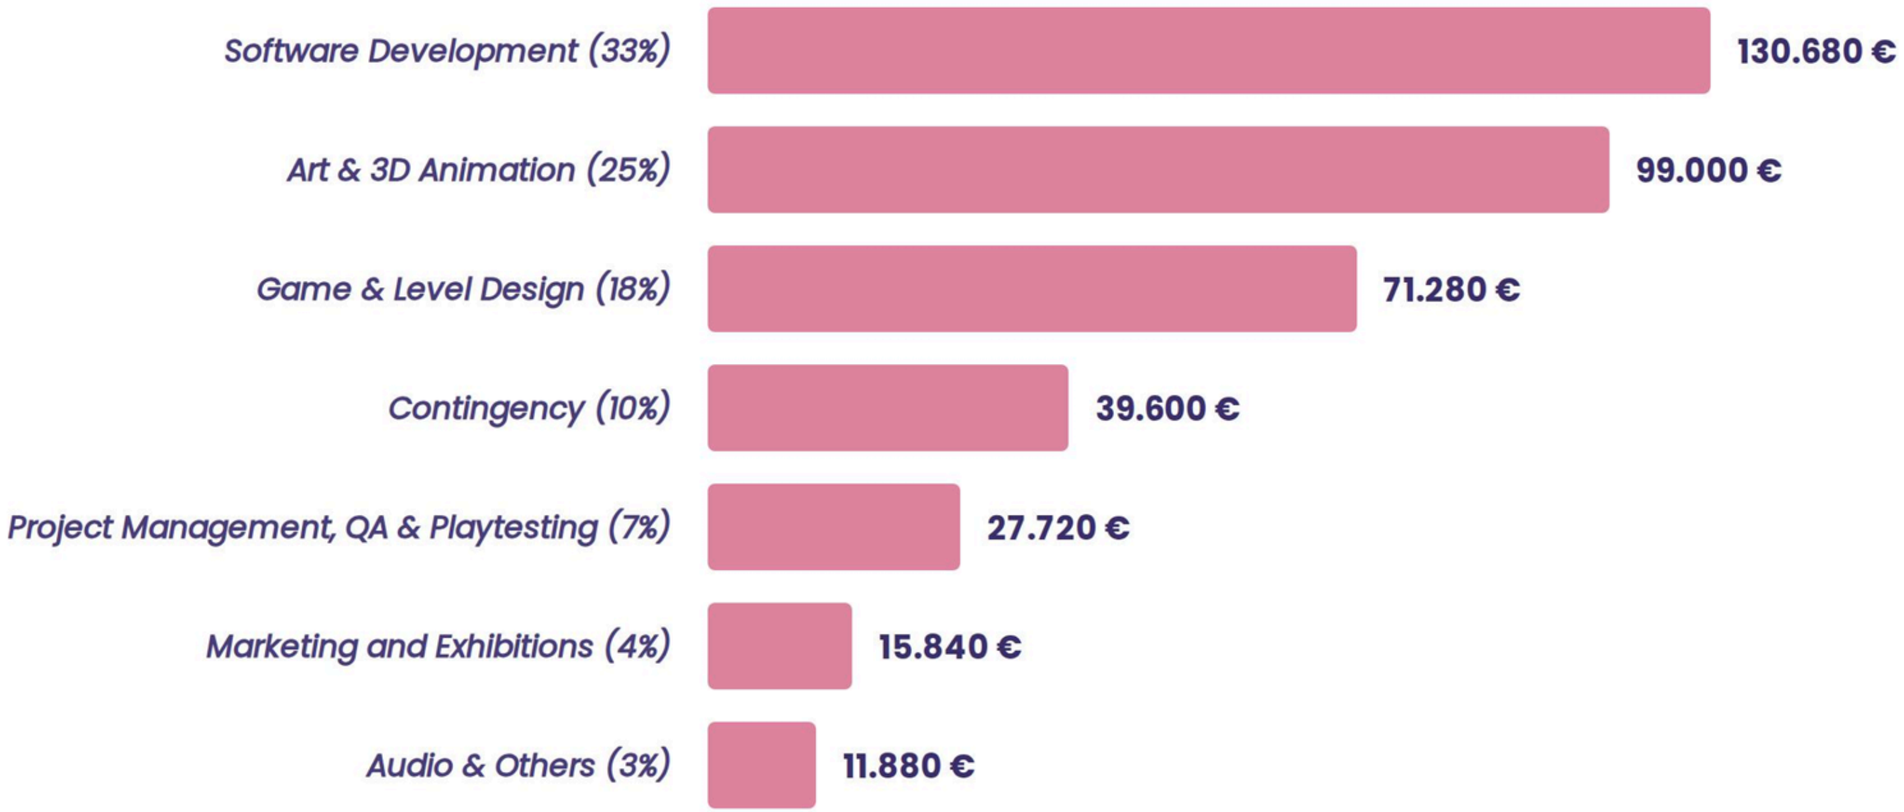
Direct access to the Italian market: perfect for showcasing the game to the public, gathering live feedback, and measuring player engagement.

BUDGET: 396.000 €

Considering a team of five people over an 18-month development cycle.

A 10% contingency is considered, bringing it to the total.

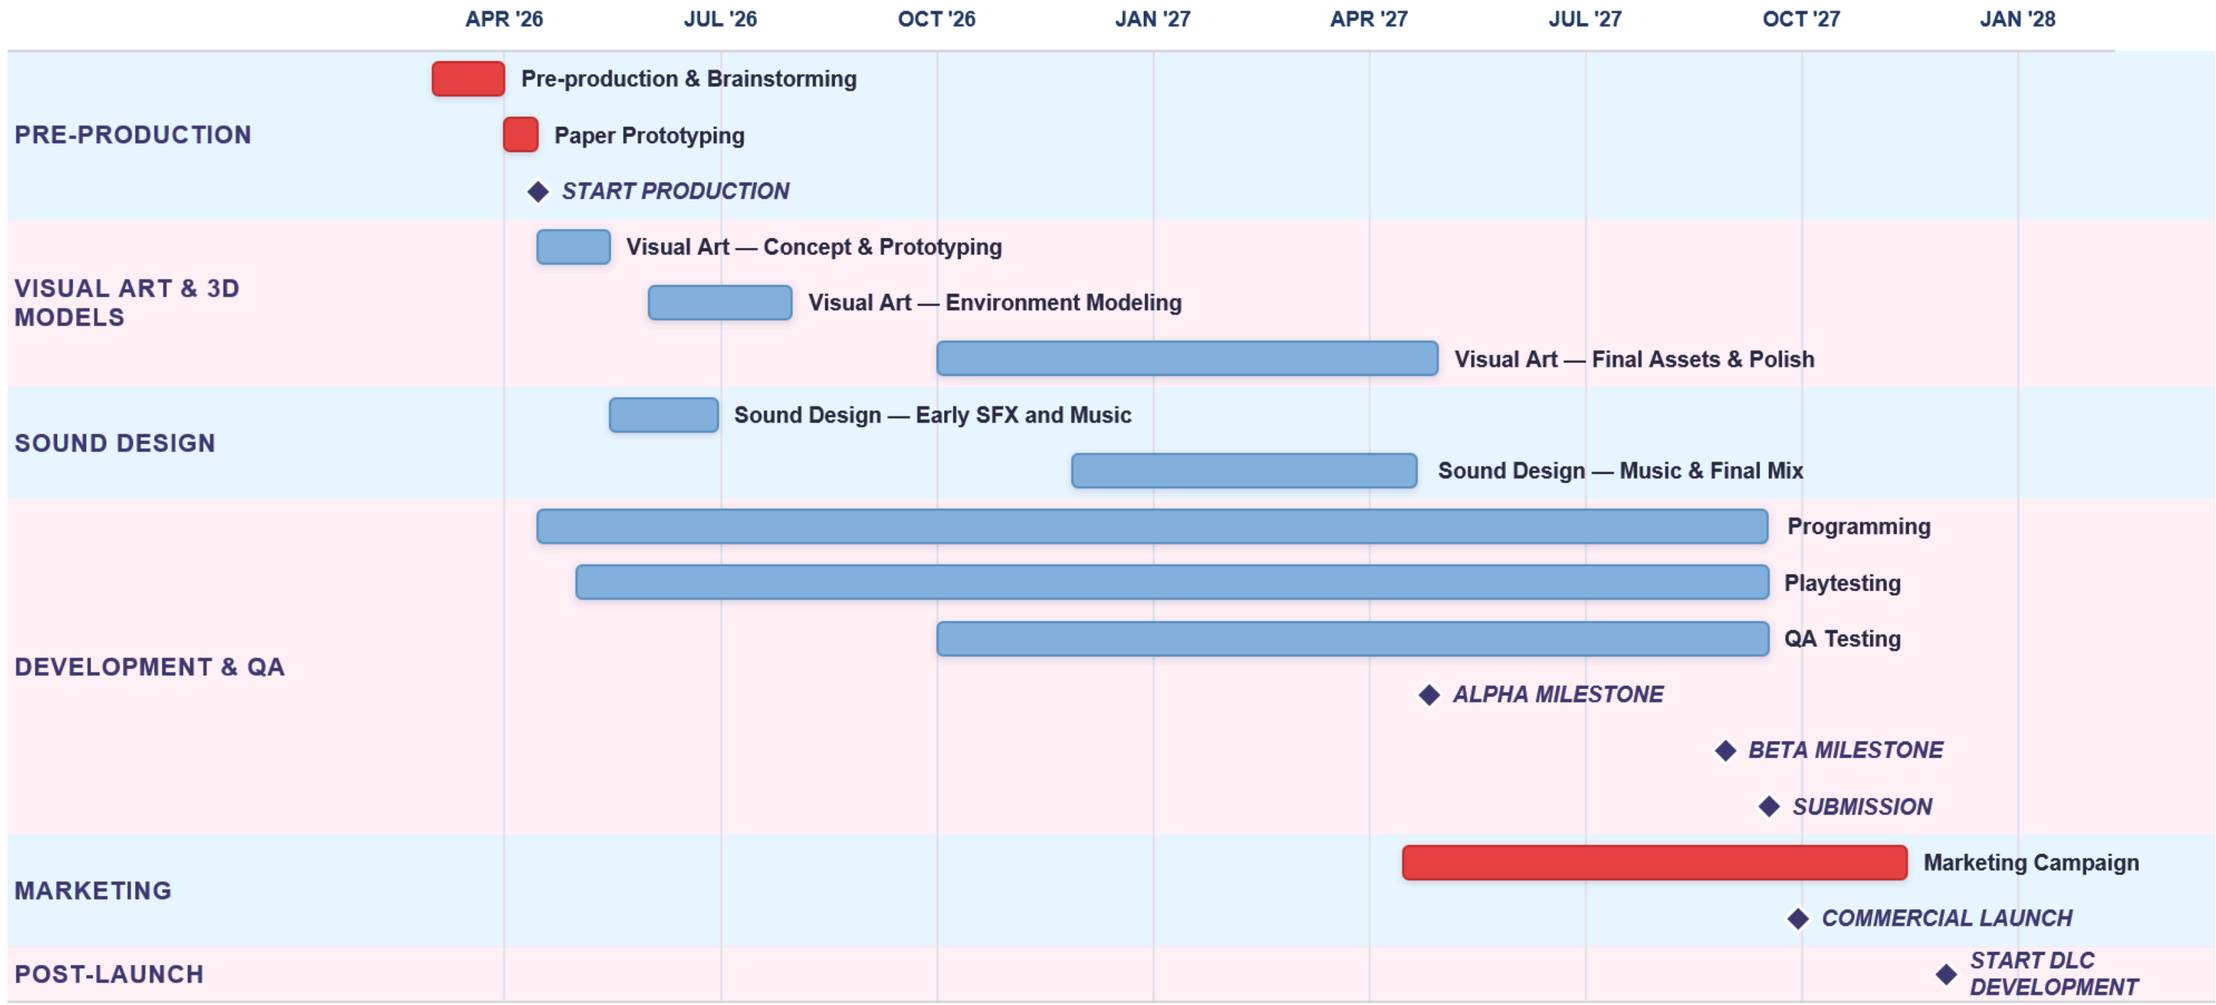
BUDGET: 396.000 €



BREAK-EVEN

Considering a single copy sold for 14.99€, the net profit is approximately 10.50€, accounting for a 30% fee.

TIMELINE



APR '26
JUL '26
OCT '26
JAN '27
APR '27
JUL '27
OCT '27
JAN '28
PRE-PRODUCTION
Pre-production & Brainstorming
Paper Prototyping
START PRODUCTION
VISUAL ART & 3D MODELS
Visual Art — Concept & Prototyping
Visual Art — Environment Modeling
Visual Art — Final Assets & Polish
SOUND DESIGN
Sound Design — Early SFX and Music
Sound Design — Music & Final Mix
DEVELOPMENT & QA
Programming
Playtesting
QA Testing
ALPHA MILESTONE
BETA MILESTONE
SUBMISSION
MARKETING
Marketing Campaign
COMMERCIAL LAUNCH
POST-LAUNCH
START DLC DEVELOPMENT

LONG STORY SHOT

Genre: 3D narrative platformer puzzle-game

Game Mode: Single Player

Platform: PC (Windows, Mac-OS, Linux)

Budget: 396.000 €

Price: 14.99 €

Release on September 2027

BEP: 37740 copies sold

Thanks for your attention!

Questions, feedback, or thoughts on The Gray Wall are more than welcome!